General Hancock "Brevetted," Washington, December 15 .- The President to-day signed an order assigning Major-General Winfield S. Hancock, United States Army, to duty according to his brevet rank of Major-General, conferred on him on the 13th of March, 1865. This order is to date from the 4 h of March, 1880. Exactly what this meant did not appear to be clear to-day, and there was much comment as to whether this was a piece of carelessness or a petty and deliberate affront put upon General Hancock by the malicious impertinence of some to-day's race did not prove an excep- Howard, on being asked what the department clerk.
